

Reading comprehension - for text see go to www.DKFindout and type 'moose' into the search box.

1a, What sort of animal is a moose?

b, What claim to fame do moose have?

2, Tick the correct statement

- Males and females have antlers
- Females don't have antlers
- Only females have antlers

3, Match the food sources to the correct season:

Lilies

Winter

Bark

Summer

Twigs

4, What is an alternative name for moose?

5, How long does it take their antlers to reach full size?

Click on the labels around the picture.

6, State two benefits of having wide hooves.

7, How does a moose's coat change throughout the year?

8, What is a dewlap?

9, What is meant by the term muzzle?

10, a, Are you likely to meet a moose in Britain?

(Perhaps you could find out which types of deer you could see in Britain?)

Reading comprehension - for text go to www.DKFindout and type 'bears' into the search box. Click on 'What is a bear?'

1, Match the adjectives with the nouns they have been used to describe in the text.

long skull short claws

large

jaws strong tail

2, What is a carnivore?

3, Bears are omnivores. What does that mean?

4, Which of their senses do bears use to find food?

eyesight

hearing

sense of smell

Click on the labels to answer the following questions

5, Click on 'big paws.' Find two adjectives that have been used to describe bears claws.

1, _____

2, _____

6, State three ways in which bears use their claws.

1 _____

2, _____

3, _____

7, What is the American Black Bears claim to fame?

8, How do bears differ from other carnivores, such as cats and dogs?

9, Why do most bears have thick fur?

10, Which type of bear does not have a thick coat?

Does all this talk of claws and jaws and teeth remind you of any story characters?

